Protect Environmental Announces Milestone in Mission to Build and Maintain Healthy, Safe, and Sustainable Communities Across the Columbus Metro Area

Radon Be Gone, a Protect Environmental Company, to complete brand transition as part of the company's plan to expand service area in a key national market

Louisville, KY, February 23, 2023 – Today, Louisville-based Protect Environmental announced the brand transition of its Columbus-based operation, Radon Be Gone. The local operation will assume the Protect Environmental brand in March, completing its integration into one of the largest environmental consulting and construction companies in the United States. The transition marks another milestone in Protect Environmental's growth strategy to expand its scale and solidify its presence in key markets.

"Partnering with Protect Environmental will better position us to expand our capacity in the Columbus area to continue to offer trusted radon and vapor intrusion solutions for keeping our community safe from exposure to harmful indoor contaminants," said Bill Dziatkowicz, Co-Founder of Radon Be Gone and current Director, Operations for the Protect Environmental Columbus, OH operation. "Partnering with Protect Environmental has unlocked the next chapter in our story and we couldn't be more excited to be a part of Team Green."

Having served Columbus, OH, and surrounding areas since 2004, Radon Be Gone will continue to provide the same expert radon and vapor intrusion services now under the Protect Environmental brand.

"Radon Be Gone has a rich history of providing expert radon and vapor intrusion services to its Ohio communities, which has made them a key partner in our mission to create more healthy, safe, and sustainable indoor environments," said Kyle Hoylman, CEO of Protect Environmental. "Their level of care for their community is evident in their many years of providing quality service and we are excited that our paths have merged to pave a new path forward, together, under the Protect Environmental brand."

Those in Columbus, OH, and surrounding areas needing radon or vapor intrusion services can contact our Protect Environmental, Columbus, OH office by visiting ProtectEnvironmental.com or calling (614) 642-2678.
