Protect Environmental Announces Milestone in its Mission to Build and Maintain Healthy, Safe, and Sustainable Communities Across the Metro Detroit Region

Protech Environmental, a Protect Environmental company, to complete brand transition as part of the company's plan to expand service area in a key national market

Louisville, KY, February 23, 2023 – Today, Louisville-based Protect Environmental announced the upcoming brand transition of its Ann Arbor-based operation, Protech Environmental. The local operation will assume the Protect Environmental brand in March, completing its integration into one of the largest environmental consulting and construction companies in the United States. The transition marks another milestone in Protect Environmental's growth strategy to expand its scale and solidify its presence in key markets across the country.

"Joining Protect Environmental has better positioned us to expand our capacity in the Metro Detroit region to continue to provide trusted radon and vapor intrusion solutions for keeping our communities safe from exposure to harmful indoor contaminants," said Kurt Hudgins, Founder of Protech Environmental and current Director, Operations for Protect Environmental's Ann Arbor, MI office. "Partnering with Protect Environmental has unlocked the next chapter in our story, and we couldn't be more excited to be a part of Team Green."

Having served Ann Arbor and the greater Detroit, MI region since its founding in 1988, Protech Environmental will continue to provide the same expert radon and vapor intrusion services under the Protect Environmental brand.

"Protech Environmental has a rich history of providing expert radon and vapor intrusion services in the communities it serves, making it a key partner in our mission to build and maintain healthy, safe, and sustainable indoor environments across the country," said Kyle Hoylman, CEO of Protect Environmental. "The level of care for the communities it serves is evident in the many years of providing quality service, and we are excited that our paths have merged under the Protect Environmental brand."

Those in the Ann Arbor and Metro Detroit region seeking radon or vapor intrusion services can contact the company's Ann Arbor, MI office by visiting ProtectEnvironmental.com or calling 734-224-9274.
